

LOOKING BACK

The power of written words

2026

Original manuscript + photo from the family archive

Publisher BOOKMUNDO

Text, layout, cover + poems:

© P.A.E.L.G. WERNERS

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or made public.

In retrospect, the demarcated time does not work.

INTRODUCTION

*After some searching and inquiring, I came across this document thanks to my youngest sister. Then I got the copies, which my oldest sister took care of for me. Neatly printed, but almost illegible. I was very curious about the content. She added a note: 'Dad wrote it on two notepads, and later (up to page 20) copied it in a notebook. One part was still attached with a staple, other sheets are loose. I'm going to sort them after copying...'
Written in pencil on - partly lined - partly graph paper -. Many texts were crossed out. A few loose leaves made it difficult to determine the order; and almost nowhere dated!*